

Dena Rizzo

Renowned Hip Hop Dancer and choreographer Dena Rizzo has become one of America's supreme names in the dance world. Dena has worked with MTV, VH-1 and has 5 HIP HOP instructional videos, including her latest "One Nation under a Groove" which she directed and produced herself. She is based out of New York City, but travels all over the country teaching and educating students in Hip Hop and breakdancing. Dena is on the faculty of Showstoppers, Dance Makers, Destination Broadway, HIP HOP Explosion, Northeastern Dance Workshop as well as Darrin Henson's Dance Groove tour just to name a few. She was a featured dancer in the movie Black Knight with Martin Lawrence. Her work can be seen in music videos, commercials, theater productions, and was featured in Dance Spirit Magazine. Her students can be seen teaching at conventions, So You Think You Can Dance, Broadway, music videos, movies and commercials.

Dena's goal is to educate students in the true art form and culture of Hip Hop. Visit www.dancerrizzo.com to learn more about Dena and to get updates on master classes.
